Direct Quote

CAUSES	Martin, "Studies"
"Office secretaries ate 25 percent more candy when it was on top of their desk rather than in a desk drawer. People who drank out of short, fat glasses consumed considerably more than those who used tall, skinny glasses."

Indirect Quote

CAUSES	Martin, "Studies"
Dr. Barbara Rolls, a professor of nutritional sciences at Penn State University, says,
"It's too easy for us to eat huge portions of high-calorie food. . . . They are cheap. They are everywhere."
